INTRODUCTION

In this globalization era, rapid technological advancement, and competitive job markets, higher education institutions are expected not only to impart academic knowledge but also to equip students with employability skills and online knowledge. Usage of online platforms in learning has become inevitable of holistic education, enabling students to make decisions and transition smoothly from academic life to professional careers. Recognizing this critical need, the Government of India has introduced several initiatives to strengthen the quality and relevance of higher education, among which the Pradhan Mantri - Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan (PM-USHA) occupies a significant position.

PM-USHA is a centrally sponsored scheme aimed at improving access, equity, quality, and outcomes in higher education institutions. The scheme emphasizes skill development, career readiness, and alignment of academic learning with industry and societal needs. Under this framework, organizing Continuous learning through online platforms plays a vital role in preparing students for employment, higher studies, entrepreneurship, and competitive examinations.

In this context, workshop on Continuous learning through online platforms organized at YSR Vivekananda Government Degree College, Vempalli. The workshop was designed to address the growing concerns among students regarding leaning through online platforms for higher education, career planning, job opportunities etc.. Many students, especially from rural and semi-urban backgrounds, possess academic potential but lack proper guidance, awareness of career pathways, and practical skills such as resume writing, interview preparedness, and self-presentation.

The primary objective of the workshop was to provide students with comprehensive guidance on online platforms and uses, including opportunities in government services, private sector employment, higher education, research, and entrepreneurship. Special emphasis was placed on RESUME BUILDING, which serves as the first point of contact between a job seeker and a prospective employer. Students were educated on the importance of a well- structured resume, essential components, formatting techniques, customization for different job roles, and common mistakes to avoid.

The workshop also aimed to enhance students' confidence, communication skills, and self- awareness by helping them identify their strengths, skills, interests, and career goals. Expert resource persons and academicians delivered interactive sessions, shared real-life experiences, and provided practical tips to make students online platforms savvy. Through presentations, discussions, and demonstrations, the workshop created an engaging learning environment that encouraged active participation.

Overall, the PM–USHA workshop on continuous learning through online platforms served as an effective platform to bridge the gap between academic knowledge and online environment. It contributed significantly to empowering students with the necessary tools, clarity, and motivation to shape their future learning successfully.

CONCLUSION

The PM–USHA workshop on continuous learning through online platforms proved to be a highly beneficial and impactful initiative aimed at enhancing students' learning preparedness through online platforms. In this online age where academics alone can be learned through online platforms and improve their qualifications to secure meaningful employment, such workshops play a crucial role in guiding students toward informed career choices and professional success.

The workshop successfully achieved its objectives by providing students with valuable insights into diverse career opportunities and the significance of strategic career planning. The sessions on resume building were particularly effective, as students gained practical knowledge about creating professional resumes that highlight their skills, achievements, and academic strengths.

Moreover, the workshop fostered self-confidence, motivation, and clarity among students regarding their future goals. Interaction with experienced academicians and resource persons enabled students to clarify doubts, overcome career-related anxieties, and develop a positive outlook toward challenges in the job market. The emphasis on communication skills, self-assessment, and continuous learning further strengthened the overall learning outcomes of the program.

About PM-USHA

The Pradhan Mantri Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan (PM USHA) is a centrally sponsored scheme by India's Ministry of Education to improve the quality of state-level higher education institutions. Launched in June 2020, it is the successor program to the Rashtriya Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan (RUSA) and is aligned with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020. The scheme aims to address challenges in the higher education system by focusing on the core pillars of the NEP 2020: Accessibility, Quality, Equity, Accountability, and Affordability. PM-USHA provides support through several components like Multidisciplinary Education and Research Universities (MERU), Grants to Strengthen Universities (GSU), Grants to Strengthen Colleges (GSC), New Model Degree Colleges (NMDC), and Gender Inclusion and Equity Initiatives (GIEI). PM-USHA provides the facilities to the institutions for upgrading the physical and digital infrastructure and also for the conversion of single-stream higher education institutions (HEDs) into multiple streams institutions.

The primary goal is to foster fairness, dignity and equal access to opportunities, resources and participation by removing barriers that prevent full inclusion, particularly for women and girls for a peaceful, prosperous and sustainable world.

About the Theme of the Workshop

In today's rapidly evolving educational landscape, continuous learning has become a cornerstone of personal and professional growth. The workshop on "Continuous Learning Through Online Platforms" aims to highlight the transformative potential of digital tools and e-learning resources in expanding academic and skill-based opportunities for students and faculty members alike. Under the PM USHA (Pradhan Mantri Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan) initiative, this program envisions fostering an environment where technology and education converge to create lifelong learners. Online platforms such as SWAYAM, NPTEL, Coursera, edX, and AKTE's Digital Learning initiatives have redefined access to quality education, enabling flexibility, inclusivity, and global collaboration. This workshop seeks to equip participants with the knowledge to effectively utilize such platforms for self-paced learning, curriculum enrichment, and skill advancement. Through hands-on sessions, expert talks, and interactive demonstrations, participants will explore techniques for integrating online learning into regular higher education practices. The overarching objective is to cultivate a culture of continuous professional development that empowers educators and students to remain connected with emerging knowledge trends, innovative pedagogies, and interdisciplinary learning. By embracing digital learning ecosystems, higher education can move towards a more adaptive, student-centered, and future-ready model. The workshop thus reaffirms the college's commitment to promoting digital empowerment and lifelong learning, aligning with the national vision of a Digitally Skilled and Knowledge-Driven India.

"E-Learning is not just a phase, it's the future's melody of education."
